

Tank Rental Details

The winery agrees to pay the sum of $5,000 upon the signing of this agreement. The tank will be delivered to the winery before August 2014. The rental period is based upon one year's harvest and the decision to return the tank, continue renting the tank or purchasing the tank must be made by January 2nd, 2015. We will need your decision at this time to be able to make this arrangement to other wineries. If the option is to return the tank we will make arrangements to pick up the tank by June 1st. This schedule will allow time to ferment and to store in this tank.

During The Rental Period

The tank will remain the property of Sonoma Cast Stone and must remain in one location within the winery. The tank will be made pre-conditioned and ready for immediate use. The winery will provide Sonoma Cast Stone full property insurance during this rental period, and will be responsible for any tank damage beyond normal wear and usage. The tank will not be used for anything other than wine fermentation and wine storage during this period. The winery agrees to pay for transportation to the winery.

Rental Return:

The winery will remove all liquids and remove any temperature control equipment. The winery will pay for any excessive damage and the cost of transportation back to the factory in Petaluma.

Continued Rental:

All conditions will remain the same and an agreement for continued use will be signed by both parties.

Tank Purchase:

A Bill of Sale will be provided by Sonoma Cast Stone for the purchase price existing at that time less ½ of the rental fees paid to that point of purchase.
